Editor's Musings

I do hope that you have been able to enjoy these last days of summer. Our weather has been such a contrast to the deadly floods in Central Europe and the devastating wild fires in Portugal. Ken, Mostyn and I have really enjoyed the beautiful weather we have been experiencing. We have recently returned from our first visit to the Northumbrian Coast. We are planning to return. If you haven't been it's well worth a visit. Ken and I walked for miles along the Coastal Path. Mostyn, meanwhile, must have run miles along the pristine beaches and in out of the water chasing the ball and other friendly four legged friends.

This edition has lots of dates for your diaries as we start the run up to Christmas. Please do make a note of the various events and support where you are able. I was particularly struck by the theme for this month's Messy Church; Giving.

What a joyous time was had in Bathley on Bank Holiday Monday whilst raising money for Cancer Research. See photos inside.

Our friends in South Muskhams are looking for volunteers to give their time and their talents to keeping their amazing Village Hall open.

Our neighbours from local villages are giving their musical skills to entertain and to raise money for MIND, the mental health charity.

Those of you with dexterous fingers will have been wrapping shoe boxes with Christmas paper as we once again send 'love in a box' to children in less fortunate circumstances than our own.

It's truly amazing what we can achieve as communities working together.

Finally, I would like to draw your attention to The All Souls' Service on Sunday 3rd November at 6 pm in St Wilfrid's South Muskhams. This service is open to all. It is the opportunity to remember a loved one who is no longer with us; whether the person died recently or a number of years ago. There will be an opportunity for the person's name to be read aloud and a candle lit in their memory. More details in the magazine.

My very best wishes to you all,

Susan

Wild Blackberries!

I often share, in my magazine articles, about my exploits (normally failures) in our kitchen garden. This year has been particularly woeful for me. I did manage to pickle a single gherkin, I almost got three heads of broccoli (until I went away for four days and came back to find the cabbage whites had eaten the lot) and I do still have some rather small, green tomatoes. It's clearly not my forte!

That said, I have been incredibly blessed by some produce this summer. Our damson bush is full, our rhubarb has exploded and the gooseberries have been amazing. We've had rhubarb crumble, gooseberry crumble and (dare I say it as a Methodist Minister?) I now have, stored, rhubarb gin and vodka; gooseberry gin and vodka and damson gin and vodka!

The biggest revelation to me this year, however, has been blackberries! I don't grow blackberries in my garden but you may know I have a dog called Wesley and I walk him daily. My favourite local walk for Wesley and myself is a circular walk around my home town that is almost entirely on footpaths that wind in between the back of houses and are completely off-road. This summer, as I walked, I began to notice the incredible crops of wild blackberries on my route; the yield has been quite amazing! In fact, on several occasions I have repurposed an (unused) doggie bag and stopped en-route to collect them. What a blessing that has been. We've now have wild blackberry crumbles and smoothies and yes, you've guessed it, I have wild blackberry gin and vodka! (I've even got a kilo frozen ready for my wife's favourite Christmas bake, a blackberry tart!)

Having just celebrated harvest festivals in our churches, I wonder what bountiful harvests are out there, in our lives that we may even walk past on a daily basis? What friendships are there in your neighbours and your colleagues that lie un-tapped? What yields of support and care lie un-offered or unaccepted? What doorways and thresholds lie un-explored?

I can't help seeing a parallel between life and my 2024 harvests. Sometimes we work so hard to make things work and can be depressed when our best efforts seem to fail; yet the natural, organic - often wild opportunities that come almost uncultivated are simply ready to harvest.

Maybe we need to discover a kind of re-wilding of our lives simply by trusting that God provides and that there are opportunities out there just waiting to be seized. My prayer is that we can open our eyes and see God at work - then taste and see that he is good!

Rev Peter Hibberts, Minister in the Newark and Southwell Methodist Circuit peter.hibberts@methopdist.org.uk; 01636 812166; 07561 665585

P.S. Can I please offer a heart-felt thank you to everyone who has held the fort during my June to August sabbatical? In particular in my magazines I'd like to thank the Rev Barrie Morley for writing in my stead; but also all those who have been on the end of the phone when I couldn't, stepped in to fill any small vacuums I'd left in my ministries during that time, and looked over one-another with love as I'm sure you always do. Thank you and it's good to be back!

Bathley Bank Holiday BBQ

A great day was had by all at the Bathley BBQ this August Bank Holiday. A fantastic £3000 plus was raised for Cancer Research.

The event was organised in just 10 days. Many thanks to all who contributed to the Cake and Book stalls, salads for the BBQ, donated cobs and rolls and raffle prizes, Alison and Jason at The Crown and all the helpers and organisers.

LESSONS FROM THE PAST - THEIR SHOES

Way back in 1980s I learned a lesson which has stuck.

I was asked to preach to the deaf church on Easter Day. Most dioceses had a special church for profoundly deaf people for it was very difficult for them to join in a 'normal' service. Nottingham had one which met in a house on Forest Road. It used sign language, and was ministered to by a deaf priest. This was well before cochlear implants became possible - the first implant in the UK was not until 1989.

I preached with someone standing beside me translating it into British Sign Language. After the service was over there was a special party in a room nearby to celebrate Easter Day. I walked into the room and immediately felt utterly and completely helpless. The room was silent except for the tinkle of teacups - but the room was full of conversation. There were 30 or more people in the room signing to each other and I could not speak to a single one of them. Eventually someone took pity on me and tried to help me.

And then I realised that the sense of being on the edge, of not fitting in, of being pitied was precisely what totally deaf people feel in a earth of noise. When they walk into a room full of spoken conversation they feel just as I did.

And, of course, what is true of deaf people in a hearing world, is true of so many others....

...a child among adults

...a disabled woman among the non-disabled

...a refugee in a strange land

This is much more than 'empathy' which can be a form of pity - it is more than 'walking in another's moccasins'. It is being able as far as possible, to think like they think, feel what they feel, and understand with their emotions.

And our supreme example is Jesus Christ. He came to be tempted as we are, to be hungry or tired just as we are, to suffer pain and disappointment and betrayal just as we are.

And He is The Way, who leads us on through it all - if we let him.

God Bless You! Bishop John Finney (retired).

Bible Bite

A short story from the Bible

It can be read in the Bible in Numbers chapters 13 and 14

God had rescued the Hebrew people from Egypt and led them to the border of the land He had promised them - Canaan. But it was not empty..

12 young leaders were chosen to check Canaan out.

They went north to where Abraham had been buried..

and they returned 40 days later with fruit, and their report...

10 said
The people there are like giants! We can't beat them.

Caleb and Joshua said..

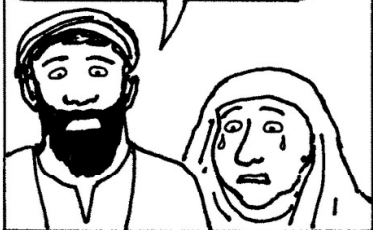

But our God is bigger than they are. We can win!

But the people said

No! We should have died in the desert!

We'll choose a new leader to take us back to Egypt.

But God said..

I have had enough of you not trusting Me. You will wander in the desert for 40 years before your children return here.

We were wrong to complain. Let's go into Canaan!

Don't attack! God will not help you win.

Not listening!

And the Canaanites chased them out of the country.

Run away!

All Hallows Eve – or Holy Evening

Modern Halloween celebrations have their roots in pre-Christian times. In those long-ago days, on the last night of October, the Druid priests celebrated the Festival of Samhain, or 'Summer's End'. They lit great bonfires and performed magic rites to ward off the dark supernatural powers of oncoming winter. Today, Christians turn to prayer instead of charms to overcome the powers of darkness. And the deeper, true meaning of All Hallows' Eve, should not be forgotten. As Christians, we all draw closer to Christ when we remember and give thanks for our loved ones and for others who have gone before us through the gates of death.
